Board of Supervisors Approves Resolution in Support of the All In campaign's call to house 1,100 people across San Francisco's 11 districts

Endorses All In campaign's call for 1,100 homes throughout City

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. — The San Francisco Board of Supervisors unanimously passed a resolution affirming the Board's support of the All In campaign and its call for homes and services for people experiencing homelessness throughout San Francisco. District 8 Supervisor Rafael Mandelman introduced the resolution, which was co-authored by Board President Norman Yee and Supervisors Sandra Lee Fewer, Gordon Mar, Vallie Brown, and Catherine Stefani. All In is a public engagement and education campaign powered by Tipping Point Community and supported by a coalition of 90+ businesses, non-profits, faith organizations, labor, sports teams, and more.

The All In campaign, which launched in July, has amassed broad support for evidence-based solutions to homelessness, particularly homes and supportive services to help people stay housed. The resolution supports the campaign's first call to action to secure homes and services for 1,100 people experiencing homelessness throughout San Francisco's 11 supervisorial districts.

"Addressing homelessness is a shared responsibility, which requires the entire city to come together to advance proven solutions," said Andrea Evans, All In Campaign Manager. "The passage of this resolution will help build the momentum we need to continue our work to secure homes for our unhoused neighbors. We're proud to work with Supervisor Mandelman and the entire Board of Supervisors to address homelessness with the urgency this moment requires."

The resolution marks the campaign's first legislative effort to align the San Francisco Board of Supervisors with All In's goals. "Many San Franciscans want to be part of solving homelessness, and All In aims to galvanize everyday San Franciscans to get involved and make an impact," said Supervisor Mandelman. "I'm proud to join the All In campaign, and thank my colleagues on the Board of Supervisors for joining me to declare our unanimous support for All In today." Powered by Tipping Point Community, which has partnered with the City to develop and master lease supportive housing buildings, the All In campaign seeks to meet its goals by securing scattered site housing throughout the City. Scattered site housing and programs like the Moving On Initiative turn existing vacant units into homes for people ready for more independence, thereby opening up spaces in the City's supportive housing stock.

“Having a home, especially when that home is coupled with wraparound supportive services, is the surest way to empower someone to move from homelessness into health, stability, and independence,” said Stephany Ashley, Northern California Director of Housing Services at Brilliant Corners, a nonprofit provider of affordable, community-based supportive housing. “We look forward to working with our All In partners to amplify and advance the solutions we know work.”

About All In

The All In campaign is a diverse coalition focused on solutions to homelessness in San Francisco. The campaign’s first call to action is to secure homes for 1,100 people experiencing homelessness throughout San Francisco’s 11 supervisorial districts. Solving homelessness is a shared responsibility that requires involvement from the entire City. As one of the wealthiest and most innovative cities in the world, we have the resources and ingenuity to address homelessness boldly and compassionately. Now is the moment to go all in.

About Tipping Point Community

Tipping Point’s mission is to break the cycle of poverty for people in the Bay Area who don’t have the resources to meet their basic needs. Since 2005, Tipping Point has raised more than $260 million for early childhood, education, employment, and housing solutions in the region. Our board covers 100% of our operating costs, so every dollar donated goes where it’s needed most. Last year, we helped more than 20,000 people connect to opportunities that break the cycle of poverty. Visit www.tippingpoint.org to learn more.
